How do such maturity models compliment and/or replicate the value added by an expert? How do such maturity models contribute to the development of the organisation's performance measurement and management practices? Research Design Qualitative inductive approach Evaluation and adoption of a based on case studies with 12 maturity model for performance measurement and management manufacturing organisations Empirical Study of 12SMEs Maturity assessment of each Structured business reviews company by the research team conducted by independent using the maturity model experts adopted Analysis Comparison of the Interviews Interviews with maturity assessment and with experts companies business review reports Within case analysis Cross case analysis Conclusions

Research Questions

• How do maturity models in the field of performance measurement and management add value in practice?

Figure 2. The inductive research design